4. It is observed that the applicant was sent for training on 17-1-2005 and sent for induction training. However, he was relieved from the training after completion of two months at his request and worked at the Dabeerpura PS. Subsequently, he was sent to training along with next batch in March 2006. After completion of training, he was posted at Narayanaguda PS and after completion of 11 months service, his probation was declared on 5-7-2007. As such his service rendered from March 2005 to March 2006 (between two spells of training) as Civil SI in Dabeerpura PS was not considered, as his training was not completed. The issue is whether said service can be counted for the purpose calculating minimum period of 6 years for promotion to the post of Inspector, along with his batch mates (2005) of converted SIs.

5. The seniority of converted civil SI in the respective Zone will commence from the date of joining the training institution. In the present case, the applicant though joined the training along with batch mates of converted SI, did not complete the training in the first spell. However, he worked as civil SI after being relieved from the training in the first spell and was sent for training along with next batch, which shall be counted as on duty for all purposes.

6. Government, therefore, hereby order to count the eligible service/seniority as SI (Civil) of the applicant from the date of joining the training institution in the first spell along with his batch mates (2005) of converted SIs., since the individual worked as civil SI between two spells of training (from March 2005 to March 2006).

7. The Director General of Police, Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, is requested to take necessary action accordingly in the matter.
